In the Acknowledgment Section

Authors must include a publishable statement for each author, disclosing all professional financial relationships from the period of conception of the study or work until publication of the manuscript. Such associations include association with the makers of products that compete with the one studied. Payments for conducting or publicizing the study should be disclosed. Authors are requested to list in the Acknowledgment Section at the end of the manuscript financial relationship disclosure (conflict of interest) and acknowledgment of assistance with manuscript.

The list below is the format we require.

The component parts of the statement are:

3. Role of the Sponsors (completed by the corresponding author)
4. Financial Disclosure of the Authors (completed by all authors with all relationships disclosed)
5. Acknowledgment statement (if necessary)

A template to use in preparing your statement is provided below. Please note that the only author who can make changes to the description of his or her contributions is the author involved. If one author wishes to make changes to the contributions described by another author, that other author must provide written permission for such changes. Please copy the template to the end of the manuscript exactly as it appears below.
